Family Practice

A family practitioner deals with the medical and psychological problems of men and women of all ages, from newborns to senior citizens. Training for most doctors in this specialty includes prevention, internal medicine, pediatrics, gynecology, surgery and psychiatry. Family practitioners are often the first doctor consulted, working with other specialists when appropriate.

Physician Assistant

A physician assistant (P.A.) is a licensed health professional who practices medicine under the supervision of a physician. A physician assistant provides a broad range of health care services that were traditionally performed by a doctor. As part of the physician/P.A. team, a physician assistant exercises considerable autonomy in diagnosing and treating illnesses.
